DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smith et al (6184823) in view of Levin (6173279).

As per claims 1,9-11, Smith et al (6184823) teaches a voice recognition navigation apparatus (col. 5 lines 49-53) comprising:

A voice reference apparatus (col. 6 lines 10-21);

A map information storage device that stores map information (col. 6 lines 22-32);

"a control device.....said map information" as route guidance based on speech input (col. 6 line 64 – col. 7 line 9);

"said voice reference apparatus.....classifies a plurality of search targets....division blocks.....specifying a search target....made by voice....a first storage device....division blocks....a second storage device.....specific relationship.....recognition data selection device....vision block has been specified" as geographic database responding to a location request, breaking the information into nodes and routes, points of interest and likewise subsets (col. 9 line 8 – col. 11 line 45; Figs. 1-6; and wherein the division blocks contain the plurality of search targets -- > as each category having a self containing sublayer -- Fig. 6);

"a voice recognition processing device.....specified by voice" as output data, derived from speech input, given back to user as speech (Fig. 1, subblock 31).

Smith et al (6184823) does not explicitly teach a plurality of search targets belonging to a single category categorized according to attributes of search targets, however, Levin (6173279) teaches categorizing the database details according to attribute (col. 8 lines 10-20). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art of database structures to modify the teachings of Smith et al (6184823) with attribute based categories in a database because it would further reduce the number of items in a category, and therefore not overwhelm the user with too many selections (Levin (6173279), col. 8 lines 4-24).

As per claims 2-7, Smith et al (6184823) teaches the claimed subdivision of data (col. 9, lines 14-40, and associated figures).

Art Unit: 2655

As per claim 8, Smith et al (6184823) teaches a display showing the results of the search, and the target location (Fig. 1, subblock 27).

As per claims 12-15, the combination of Smith et al (6184823) in view of Levin (6173279) teaches multiple geographic areas (Smith - Figs. 3,7,col. 7 lines 1-27 – plurality of nodes) and point of interest data (col. 7 lines 40-47).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Applicant's arguments pertaining to the newly amended claim language 'in only one of which each of the plurality of search targets is included" is addressed above by the referral to the Smith reference, in particular, Fig. 5. Examiner notes that the scope of the currently amended claim language is met by the Smith reference, however, the arguments presented by the applicant refer to a data structure that is narrower in scope compared to the amended claim language.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Please see the related art listed on the PTO-892 form.
